SCHOOL CHILDREN STERILIZE NOSES.

Influenza, Pneumonia, Meningitis, Diphtheria, Smallpox, Scarlet Fever, Measles, Whooping Cough and Many Other Contagious Diseases Contracted at School Through Nose.

Parents are advised to teach their children, as part of their daily toilet, how to sterilize the nose and throat with Eucapine, the preparation of OI. Eucalypti, which became so popular in this country during the epidemic of influenza and pneumonia. A child can be shown in a minute how to use it, and, if reminded by the parent, will do so systematically child can be snow in a minute now to use it, and, if reminded by the parent, will do so systematically without assistance or objection.

The child dips its little finger into the jar of Eucapine and introduces it up each nostril, then, catching the nose between the thumb and first finger, suddenly releases it as he draws in his breath, thus sniffing the Eucapine back into the throat. The Eucapine back into the throat. The Eucapine pradually spreads over the throat, tonsils, ear ducts and larynz, sterilizing, cleansing and healing any inflammation or irritation and preventing the formation of adenoids, enlarged tonsils, earache, deafness and serious lung diseases.

Sterilization with Eucapine keeps the nose clean, healthy, comfortable and free from germs; relieves simple droup, coughs, colds and sore throat almost immediately, and is so pleasant that even the youngest children learn to call for their jar of Eucapine and use it for themselves whenever they feel a cold or sore throat coming on Colds are contagious.

> Meteoric Rise and Fall Former Councilman and Factor in Local Politics.

The recent fall of Sam Jones, one time a member of the city council and a former factor in Hamilton county politics, has been equally as meteoric as his rise to wealth and political prominence several years ago. The latest chapter in Jones' career came Friday when the Hamilton county grand jury indicted him, together with a train crew, in conbeing shipped interstate from some wet spot in Kentucky to some wet spot further down in Dixie. Jones, who is estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of $100,000, readily made bond for his appearance at the next term of the criminal court. His friends bitterly resent the charge of larceny against him, and say that while he may be guilty of selling, storing and transporting whisky that the larceny charge is without foundation and the cause and reason is a frame-up by his enemies. However, Atty.-Gen. George W. Chamlee states that Jones and those jointly indicted with him will be given an early trial pending against them. Those indicted together with Jones are: Oscar McWhorter, a freight brakeman. They have also made bond for their Sam Jones was in only fair cir-associates.

The club soon became a gathering place for politicians, and it is claimed that many candidates were groomed for and entered in the races for city and county offices. The club ran un-molested and it is whispered broad-cast that it was operating with the protection rather than the condemnation of the law. However, this was never proved.
Coming of Provest.

Jones was never arrested in con-nection with the club until the coming of soldiers to Chickamauga park and the stationing here of Capt. Kenneth Kern as chief of the provost guards. The provost chief learned that soldiers were seen going and coming from the Beavers' club and he immediately raided the hitherto unmolested liquor sanctorium. Jones was arrested together with his barmade the statement that nothing would ever be done with him, as he had friends among the city officials, who would lend their influence and protection which meant the immunprotection which meant the immunity of the law and a subsequent acquittal. This statement was repeated by Capt. Kern and an investigation by city and county officials was made, but nothing, other than publicity.

Several times later Jones and his bartenders were arrested charged with violating the whisky laws, but he escaped all prosecution with the exception of a $50 fine and costs on the charge of transporting whisky.

Breach Widened.

The charges made by Capt. Kern quickly widened the relationship between the city detective department and the provost guards, the climax of which was the killing of Sergt. J. W. Fiannigan, a soldier, by Joe J. Ivina.

The killing, it was prove was the result of an accessive drinkin party, but the argument which led u to it was alleged to have been cause by ill-feeling between the detective department and the provosts. Jones han no connection with this affair othe than above stated.

The latest trouble of Jones cam about as the result of a well-know lower Market street bootlegger bein caught with the goods on him, and whe seeing the toils of the law slowly businely winding about him, "squealed. He was ordered before Judge S. D. Mo Reynolds, and told the court he bough the whisky from Sam Jones, sometime making the purchases in large quantities. Deputies were then put to work and as the result located a train crew in charge of Oscar South and McWhorter unloading some whisky near Oolte wah. It was charged that just prior to the deputies arriving on the scene Jones had been there in his car. When he was asked regarding this he said he was merely out riding and chance along. South was taken in charge, but later ran, leaving his hat and pistol, which he later admitted to Sheriff Bass were his. Bench warrants were issued by Judge McReynolds for Jones ran between Laxington and Birmingham, and when a car of liquor was being shipped through the train would atop on the outskirts of the courty and a large quantity of whisky would be unloaded and taken to a nearby field, where it would await being brought to the city. The transporting of this to the city is the basis of the charge against Jones. It is further charged that he would supply the local bootlegging market with in Direct Holdings.

There seems to be a difference of opinion among lawyers as to the status of the case of G. Russell Brown, recently elected a member of the county court from the Third civil district. Some lawyers have expressed the opinion that as long as Mr. Brown is a schoolteacher in the county schools he cannot serve as a member of the court and must either resign as teacher or vacant his seat in the court. Other claims that it is strictly legal that Mr. Brown should hold both positions without a violation of the statutes covering such cases. Those who contend that the Third district 'squire cannot hold a place in the schools, and the court for the schools and also has supervis-ion over the schools and its teachers; and in this way, Prof. Brown, as a member of the court, would be vot-ing for or against appropriations in which he was interested.

A leading Chattanooga lawyer was asked Monday regarding his opinion in this matter and he said he would withhold it until he had thoroughly informed himself on the statute cov-ering such cases. He, however, stated
